Preferred Citation

John Nipp, Sr. reminiscences, Rare Books and Manuscripts, Indiana State Library

Historical Note

---

According to the account, schoolhouses in Indiana between 1821 and 1850 were quite rustic, made of logs and built in the woods with disregard for township lines.

In Rush County, John Nipp was one of eight people "who helped materially on" the old Silver Schoolhouse, a round-log building, which was still standing circa 1855-1856, before a new one was built in District 9, Washington Township, Rush County, Indiana.

Scope and Contents

This collection has the original handwritten, three-page draft as well as the two-page typed transcript of John Nipp Sr.'s reminiscences written on December 24, 1935, with a description of the old log schoolhouse circa 1855-1856 in Washington Township, Rush County, Indiana.
